Enjoy an evening of food, drinks, and original literature performance!

Storytelling, or “live lit” shows, are one of the most exciting developments in the literary arts in recent memory. Chicago-based Story Club is a leading storytelling showcase that operates four shows in three separate cities.

Dana Norris, the founder of Story Club and editor-in-chief of Story Club Magazine and Wittenberg alumna, is pleased to offer a workshop to students on this exciting literary art form.

The 2-part workshop will take place on Thursday, March 20th and Friday, March 21st.

Participating students will bring a story they want to perform to the workshop. Students will then read their pieces in the workshop, receive notes, and revise their pieces before presenting their finished work at a live lit show at Founders Pub at 6pm on Friday, March 21st.

Founders reading is open to the public!

Come enjoy good food and drinks with a literate flare.
