List of Programs

On this page, review the list of teacher preparation programs offered by your institution of higher education (IHE) or organization. Enrollment

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

>> Enrollment

On this page, enter the number of candidates for an initial teaching credential who are enrolled in the initial teacher preparation programs within your institution of higher education (IHE) or organization. Do not report on the total number of students enrolled in the entire IHE. Do not include individuals who currently hold a teaching credential and are seeking additional licenses or endorsements, or individuals preparing for school-based careers other than classroom teachers (e.g., administrators, guidance counselors).

The Department recognizes that in many cases, candidates voluntarily report their race/ethnicity and gender data, and that in some cases, candidates may choose not to report this information. Please report on the race/ethnicity data you have available, though the data may not be complete. It is not expected that the sum of the enrolled students reported by race/ethnicity or by gender will necessarily equal the total number of students enrolled.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the candidates enrolled in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the candidates enrolled in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the candidates enrolled in the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the enrollment data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Enrollment

For the purpose of Title II reporting, an enrolled student is defined as a student who has been admitted to a teacher preparation program, but who has not completed the program during the academic year being reported. An individual who completed the program during the academic year being reported is counted as a program completer and not an enrolled student.

Provide the number of students in the teacher preparation program in the following categories. Note that you must report on the number of students by ethnicity and race separately. Individuals who are non-Hispanic/Latino will be reported in one of the race categories. Also note that individuals can belong to one or more racial groups, so the sum of the members of each racial category may not necessarily add up to the total number of students enrolled. Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2017-18. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

Program Completers

On this page, enter the total number of individuals who completed the program in AY 2017-18 and the two prior academic years. If you submitted an IPRC last year, the number of program completers for the two prior academic years are pre-loaded from your prior year's report.

A program completer is a person who has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program. Program completers include all those who are documented as having met such requirements. Documentation may take the form of a degree, institutional certificate, program credential, transcript or other written proof of having met the program's requirements. In applying this definition, the fact that an individual has or has not been recommended to the state for initial certification or licensure may not be used as a criterion for determining who is a program completer.

An individual cannot be classified as both enrolled and as a program completer at the same time. An enrolled individual is not a program completer. Once an individual has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program and becomes a program completer, the individual is no longer classified as enrolled.

After entering the program completers, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

After reviewing and updating as necessary, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Annual Goals - Mathematics

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route to state credential program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(A\)\(ii\), §206\(a\))

Information about teacher shortage areas can be found at <https://www2.ed.gov/about/offices/list/ope/pol/tsa.html>.

We hope to add more than one prospective mathematics teacher in 2018-2019. Wittenberg was awarded a Robert C. Noyce grant to support STEM teacher candidates, which previously increased our Math and Science enrollment, but the grant ended, and our application to renew was denied. We have since hired new Math and Science faculty who have been charged to increase funding for support of math/science candidates in our program.

Over the past two years, the EPP has engaged in new enrollment growth initiatives within the department and at the university level. Included in these initiatives are direct contact with prospective teacher candidates in mathematics and science by the content experts on the faculty. The university has also instituted a new enrollment database system (Slate) that allows for precise queries to be run in the areas of mathematics, science and special education. Additionally, the EPP has added different programming during the university recruitment phase and around admission into the EPP. The EPP was awarded a $20,000 state-level grant in collaboration with a partner district to develop programming to attract underrepresented persons into the teaching profession. While candidates from underrepresented racial and ethnic groups will be recruited as part of this project—prospective teachers of mathematics and science will be given special attention. The EPP will also continue to seek increased funding for support of prospective mathematics and science teachers. Special Education continues to be one of the most popular licensure programs at the EPP. One reason for this popularity is that it is bundled with another licensure program (Early Childhood Education) and completers get two teaching licenses. The EPP will continue to offer this dual licensure program and promote it as distinct in the state of Ohio.

Annual Goals - Science

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route to state credential program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students. Assurances

Please certify that your institution is in compliance with the following assurances. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(A\)\(iii\), §206\(b\)) Note: Be prepared to provide documentation and evidence for your responses, when requested, to support the following assurances.

1. Preparation responds to the identified needs of the local educational agencies or States where the program completers are likely to teach, based on past hiring and recruitment trends.

- Yes
- No

2. Preparation is closely linked with the needs of schools and the instructional decisions new teachers face in the classroom.

- Yes
- No

3. Prospective special education teachers are prepared in core academic subjects and to instruct in core academic subjects.

- Yes
- No
- Program does not prepare special education teachers

4. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students with disabilities.

- Yes
- No

5. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to limited English proficient students.

- Yes
- No

6. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students from low-income families.

- Yes
- No

7. Prospective teachers are prepared to effectively teach in urban and rural schools, as applicable.

- Yes
- No

8. Describe your institution's most successful strategies in meeting the assurances listed above:

The reconstitution of the Teacher Education Advisory Board (TEAB) has served as a great mechanism to assure that Wittenberg teacher candidates are prepared to address the needs and trends of local schools and LEAs. The TEAB is made up of university faculty, P-12 teachers, and P-12 administrators and meets once a quarter provide analysis and assurance of teacher education program quality and alignment with local needs. The department continues a structured interview process with our largest (and urban) school district partner. This process allows the school district to identify areas of need and for the department to identify promising candidates in those areas to matriculate through an interview process for student teaching and then for possible employment. The geography of Wittenberg's Teacher Education program provides opportunity for all teacher candidates to gain authentic and direct experience of working with urban and rural students and students from low income families during their preparation. Likewise, all teacher candidates have numerous documented field experiences of working with students with disabilities. All prospective teachers (special education teachers included) are required to complete (for university graduation) a rigorous and diverse general education program to provide content preparation in core academic subjects. Regarding our instructional need for Limited English Proficient: we have addressed this area of our program more directly and have included content and instruction specifically targeting this need in three of our literacy courses.

The pass rates table is populated from files provided by the testing company or state. The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period. Use of Technology

1. Provide the following information about the use of technology in your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(F\))

Does your program prepare teachers to:

- a. integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction

Yes
 No

- b. use technology effectively to collect data to improve teaching and learning

Yes

- c. use technology effectively to manage data to improve teaching and learning

Yes
 No

- d. use technology effectively to analyze data to improve teaching and learning

 No

2. Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

In 2016-2017 a course in Educational Technology was created and was approved by the university curriculum committee and faculty. This course will first be taught in the Spring of 2019. Regarding the effective integration of technology for direct impact of instruction, candidates are encouraged, and in most cases required, to integrate technology such as presentation assistance, virtual grouping, and web-based assessment technology into their lessons and course presentations. Furthermore, lesson plans ask for students to specify the technology being used in the classroom. In methods courses, particularly math and science, students are required to develop a unit and must specifically address the use of technology by students in the unit. During methods course instruction, students develop a webpage that targets the development of a specific standard across grade levels. The webpage design and components included are structured so that students have the opportunity to demonstrate their expertise in the selection and use of technology that will enhance student learning.

Teacher Training

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request. \(§205\(a\)\(1\)\(G\)\)

1. Does your program prepare general education teachers to:

a. teach students with disabilities effectively

- Yes
 No

b. participate as a member of individualized education program teams

- Yes
 No

c. teach students who are limited English proficient effectively

- Yes
 No

2. Provide a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares general education teachers to teach students with disabilities effectively, including training related to participation as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, and to effectively teach students who are limited English proficient. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the three elements listed above are not currently in place.

All teacher candidates are required to successfully complete this entry-level course: EDUC-120--Introduction to Students with Special Needs. This course examines how schools and society respond to students who have special learning needs. The course focuses on disability as the context for examining student diversity in schools. The course provides an overview of legislative mandates relating to students with disabilities, teacher roles, educational programming options, and approaches for creating more inclusive school environments. Once candidates progress through our program, some of the last courses Education majors will take are some 300-level courses: EDUC 332--Assessment and Inclusion and EDUC 405--Addressing Reading Difficulties. These courses include an examination of characteristics, needs, and educational programming for students with disabilities or developmental delays and those who are gifted in early, middle or secondary classes. The courses build on information presented in EDUC 120 and focuses on knowledge and skills for identifying and accommodating students with special needs in general education and inclusive settings. The courses examine characteristics of students with special needs, provides a rationale for needs-based decision making, and provides knowledge and skills concerning teacher roles on intervention assistance teams and multidisciplinary IEP planning teams, and in intervention-based evaluation procedures. Regarding our instructional need for Limited English Proficient: we have addressed this area of our program more directly and have included content and instruction specifically targeting this need in three of our literacy courses. These materials are available for use by our teacher candidates in diverse field experiences throughout their program.

3. Does your program prepare special education teachers to:

a. teach students with disabilities effectively

- Yes

- Program does not prepare special education teachers

4. Provide a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares special education teachers to teach students with disabilities effectively, including training related to participation as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, and to effectively teach students who are limited English proficient. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the three elements listed above are not currently in place.

Our program does a excellent job of preparing special education teachers of mild-to-moderate-need individuals, by offering not only EDUC 120, EDUC 332, and EDUC 405 as described above, but additionally the following coursework: EDUC 352—Middle and Secondary Intervention, EDUC 422—Early Childhood Intervention, EDUC 433—Skills for Collaborative Problem Solving in Special Education, EDUC 482—Intervention Specialist Practicum. Over the past year four additional credits in special education preparation has been added to these courses to improve the preparation of special education teachers. Included in those four credits is the addition of EDUC 482. Through this course, teacher candidates will shadow and receive direct mentoring from a practicing Intervention Specialist regarding the continuum of professional and instructional expectations of special educators. In addition, the teacher candidates will meet for instruction & reflection in individual and small group sessions with the university instructor & mentors. 50 hours of field experience is required in this course. This course will first be offered (and required) in the Fall of 2019. The other courses (EDUC 352, 422, & 433) include an examination of knowledge and skills for identifying, assessing, teaching, and managing elementary, middle & secondary-level students identified as having mild/moderate cognitive, behavioral, sensory, and/or physical disabilities. Focus is on procedures for implementing a directive approach to skilled instruction, promoting self-regulation in learners, and designing accommodative learning environments in elementary, middle & secondary-level settings. The courses are designed for prospective teachers pursuing licensure in special education. Field experience of approximately 25 contact hours with elementary, middle & secondary-level students with special needs is required. These courses and others, promote collaborative planning on IEP teams. Regarding our instructional need for Limited English Proficient: we have addressed this area of our program more directly and have included content and instruction specifically targeting this need in three of our literacy courses.
